WHY CONSIDER COLLEGE?

 A college degree can open doors and provide many opportunities. A college education means:

ENHANCED KNOWLEDGE

A college education will increase a person's ability to think abstractly and critically, analyze information, express thoughts clearly in speech and in writing, and make wise decisions. These skills are useful both on and off the job.

GREATER POTENTIAL

A higher education can increase a person's understanding of the community, the nation, and the world – as he or she explores interests, discovers new areas of knowledge, considers lifelong goals, and becomes a responsible citizen. A college education also provides greater knowledge of and appreciation for different ideas, philosophies, cultures, and people.

A college education provides students with an increased network of references for a future career. What students do in college is as important as their grades because the contacts and friends they make will be the people who support them when they begin to look for a job.

INCREASED JOB OPPORTUNITIES

The world is changing rapidly. Many jobs rely on new ideas and technology, and already require more brain power than muscle power. In a person's working life, many jobs will require education beyond high school. A college education will increase the number and variety of jobs from which a person can choose. A college degree often leads to higher income, a better standard of living, and a more satisfying career.
